

NEWS from the RiskShield Cosmos

Dear Tyrone,

Instant payments, agentic AI, compliance in insurance, and Europe's AI strategy ... this month's topics capture what's driving the momentum in the financial sector.

What ties them together? A clear message: while transformation takes time, its outcomes must deliver in real time.

From evolving regulatory frameworks to smarter, adaptive technologies, financial institutions today need more than just compliance, they need solutions that act, adapt, and evolve.

In this June edition of our RiskShield News Radar, we've once again gathered expert perspectives, hands-on insights, and industry developments to help you stay informed and one step ahead.

Enjoy the read, and best regards,
Your RiskShield Team

Agentic AI in Finance: From Reactive to Proactive

In an environment where speed and security must go hand in hand, agentic AI is emerging as a valuable ally. Its ability to make autonomous decisions based on dynamic risk signals is a game-changer, particularly for fraud and AML operations handling real-time transactions. Read our latest Forbes article to find out how financial institutions can deploy this intelligence without losing oversight or trust.

AI Week Aachen: Shaping AI in the Heart of Europe

At INFORM, we believe Europe must not become a passive adopter of AI. Instead, the future lies in bridging research and entrepreneurship to build sovereign, scalable AI solutions, right here in the heart of Europe. During the AI Week in Aachen (May 19-23), we joined leading voices in calling for an independent, industrially-driven EU AI strategy to strengthen Europe's digital competitiveness. ## AML + AI: A New Standard for Insurance Compliance

Insurance carriers today face mounting regulatory pressure and increasingly complex customer profiles. At the same time, high-risk products, such as life or investment-linked policies, are becoming prime targets for financial crime. To stay ahead, insurers need intelligent protection that brings AI, automation, and real-time detection into their operations. Explore how smarter processes can drive both compliance and business value in our latest paper.

Instant Payments: A Long Road to Real-Time

Instant payments may dominate today's conversations, but their journey started long before recent regulations. What began as a visionary concept has now become a legislative mandate, bringing both opportunity and compliance pressure. As the EU turns instant payments into a must-have, understanding their evolution can help institutions prepare for what's next. Explore the instant payment timeline and its implications in our latest blog.

Where to meet us next: Double Feature @ BC

Two key topics, two expert events, one venue in one city. We're heading to BANKINGCLUB's INNOVATIONS forBANKS and COMPLIANCEforBANKS 2025 in Cologne to stay aligned with the German banking industry. What are their most pressing challenges? What are benchmark approaches to solve them? We'll be there to engage in discussions, understand emerging priorities, and contribute our perspective as a trusted solution partner. Let's connect if you're attending.
